

THE J6 Newsletter

BY: HEATHER YOUNG

One Question Remains

By Kelly Meggs and Robert Morss

From the dungeons of Philadelphia, two blocks away from where America's founding documents were signed, a message of inquiry and hope is delivered out of the minds of dual prisoners of political warfare.

Business Man turned Oath Keeper and an Airborne Ranger turned Teacher, combine their knowledge, experience, and determination, to offer their take on how they ended up in captivity for their roles on January 6th, how the entire country has been egregiously lied to, and where the nation can go from here.

As a labor of love and enlightenment, Kelly Meggs and Robert Morss have several pieces of crucial information they would like to offer as well as ask of You.

One Question Remains will leave the reader ready to swan dive into the rabbit hole of the latest national "conspiracy theory" and change the mind of its readers for good.

Book will be available in the next week or two and a link will be provided when it is. (Image created by Robert Morss)

J6 Christmas Drive

The Third Christmas

For three years now Patriot Mail Project has organized letters to the incarcerated as well as those who are home enduring the weight of the government. Every Christmas they keep up with the ever changing addresses of the detained and take on the task of making sure every J6ers child they are aware of has a Christmas provided for them. As the number of arrests climb so do the number of children who will not have a parent (usually the provider) at their festivities this year. You can donate at Patriotmailproject.com/2024ChristmasDrive

Help these children have a Christmas!
(Image taken from J6 Patriot News Telegram)

Your Presence Is Requested

At the Williamsburg Courthouse

Jonathan Mellis will appear in a Williamsburg courtroom on Monday, January 27, 2025. Anyone willing and able to attend and show support is much appreciated. The courthouse is located at 5201 Monticello Avenue, Williamsburg, VA 23188

AN APPEAL TO HEAVEN

As of today, December 3, 2024, it has been

1427 Days

of raids of January 6th defendants and their families.

1427 days of American citizens deemed domestic terrorists by their own country and held as Political Hostages Nearly 4 years later the raids and round ups continue.

According to the npr.org J6 database (Tom of the Northern Neck Patriots mentions every Friday night on the vigil <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KSPUeIliIc>) there have been

1,556 arrests

as of November 27, 2024 when the last update occurred.

There were 3 new arrests In the last week.

Promises Made, Promises Kept TAYLOR JOHNATAKIS (29838509)

Date: 11/22/2024 4:07:42 PM

All,

I was recently asked by a staff member here "Will you still support Donald Trump if he doesn't pardon you guys?" My answer was an instantaneous, "YES". When she asked why, I explained that I support the agenda, I support the direction he intends to take the country, and my frustration with the 'way things are' and 'are going' long predates Donald Trump coming down the Golden Escalator. Donald Trump to me represents a populist agenda that empowers me to take care of myself, my family, my community, my city, my county, my state, my nation and then the world... and in that order. This impulse run counter to globalist forces, who do not believe in my personal empowerment to be of importance over a more global agenda... Globalist and Monarchist share the same impulses. I then told the staff member; I care deeply about the world and society we will leave to my kids.

One of the things I loved about Donald Trump and his first term, was the fact he made campaign promises and did everything in his power to keep them. This was the exact opposite from Barack Obama who would say one thing, but it seemed every paper he signed was the opposite of what he promised. Even when the political forces prevented Donald Trump from fulfilling a promise (overturning the Affordable Care Act) he went out of his way to improve it and make it function. He even kept the most outlandish promise of all and built a WALL and even got Mexico to pay for it (yes, they paid for it in their own way, deploying troops to patrol their side of the border).

This term promises to be a wild ride, he has made some big promises, and has asked us, the American people to raise our expectations. The American people are absolutely behind him. His agenda is rooted in our individual, familial, and community needs, once those things are taken care of, the larger country will in many ways heal itself.

One of the Promises he has made is to release the J6 Prisoners on "Day One". He at one time admonished Joe Biden to do the same saying "it's easy Joe, it's just a piece of paper, do it Joe". Politically, it makes sense to say things like pardons will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis...I get it. But that begs the question, who will review them, what resources will they rely on, prosecutors and judge's statements? Will we have the chance to plead our case again? What standards will be used? What do they consider violence? I will never forget one J6, Reed Christiansen writing that the DOJ was using 'word Alchemy' to make bumping into an Officer, or impeding their path an 'Assault'. And when will this review take place, time is running short to get it done by Day One. Donald Trump has often played the J6 Choir at his rallies, saying he would free us on Day One...Often it is mentioned that funds raised from the J6 choir were donated to the legal defense funds for J6ers...there was a caveat however, it only went to misdemeanor defendants...I have news for you, with rare exception, if you passed through the DC DOC (DC Gulag) you were a felon. I was told in that choir there were maybe 1 or 2 misdemeanants passing through who got a check, the rest got left out of the funds... So what does this mean? Good question.

We are less than two months until inauguration day, and we are unsure what our fate will be. In my case 100% of the inmates are certain Donald Trump will keep his promise and asking for my stuff when I leave, most staff are giving me smiles and messages of support, but for us and our families, we are left with hope, but not certainty.

I know that for me, this experience will not have been in vain. I am touched by the situation with intergenerational incarceration and my wife has worked tirelessly the last year to stand up www.LeftBehindandWithout.org which helps children with incarcerated parents with afterschool activities, sports, music, dance, etc...

(Image taken from Patriot Mail Project)

Taylor James Johnatakis
29838-509
MCFP Springfield
Federal Medical Center
P.O. BOX 4000
Springfield, MO 65801

Promises Made Continued....

One recent family who received support for 4 children whose father is incarcerated had one of the daughters enrolled in dance... The Grandmother who is the caregiver asked, "how long will this last?". I assume she thought it would be for just a few months; my wife told her it would last as long as she wanted to dance. The Grandmother cried; she was elated. Another young man in Ohio was signed up for a wrestling team. Wrestling is something you usually do multiple times a week, and strong male figures usually run those teams...I was a wrestler and learned a lot of work ethic from my wrestling coaches. I am so encouraged that in Ohio, one young man is getting positive male role models who might just help him stop the cycle of intergenerational incarceration.

I am not filled with bitterness that this happened to me, I had my role in the whole thing. I believe in the 'original sins' (which I have written about previously) that lead to J6 and believe those should be considered in the bigger picture...We shouldn't have even been there. However, as Chapter 50 in Genesis explains, "I will make that which was meant for Evil and Turn it for Good". Donald Trump having a gap between his two terms might in the long run prove to be the greatest blessing our nation ever had, my incarceration might make all the difference for some young men and women who are empowered to stop generational incarceration. I will support Donald Trump and his agenda no matter what the outcome, that doesn't mean however I don't expect him to follow through with his "Promises Made, Promises Kept" agenda, including freeing the J6ers on "Day One", "it's easy, it's just a piece of paper"

I ask you all to do what you feel inspired to do, to raise your voice in support of him and keeping his promises, make it politically easy for him to do.

Thank You,
Taylor

#PardonThemAll X Campaign Marie Johnatakis

Create a post on X with the following for your J6er!

"I'd like to run a ***Pardon Them All*** campaign.

These can be posted by J6ers, their families or we can post it for them. Let's just make sure to use: #PardonThemAll.

We would like to run a "Pardon Them All" campaign on X.

My goal is for people to see the importance of pardons for everyone. These can be posted for or by any J6er, with any charge.

They can share whatever they would like, but it would be great to have all of the posts include why they went that day.

A picture would be great, if you one is comfortable with that?

Please use #PardonThemAll, and the title ***Pardon Them All*** at the top of the post.

I hope this helps all of the J6ers!!"

(Image taken from @PeasantsPer on X)

(Writing is an edited text message from Marie Johnatakis wife and advocate of a J6er and advocate for children of those incarcerated)

Artwork on the newsletter (header, appeal to Heaven, free the hostages, Trump won and hardcore MAGA) created by Markus Maly.

Learn his story or support his family by visiting:

<https://www.givesendgo.com/G9QRD>

